

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT VISITS WHITE HOUSE

Returns to Capital as Private Citizen and Lunches With Wilson.

FINDS ONLY FEW CHANGES

Former Chief Executive Makes Tour of All the Federal Departments.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Ex-President Taft, who has been host at so many functions in the White House, was a guest here today. He had luncheon at 2 o'clock with President and Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. Taft had come to Washington to attend his official duties as a member of the Lincoln Memorial Commission, but he availed himself of the opportunity to call in many of his old friends. Most of his day was spent in the luxurious corridors of a private citizen to which he has hardly accustomed himself yet, even at Yale University, but which certainly was a novel experience for him in the national capital, where so many of his years have been given to public duties as cabinet officer and President. The former President in the course of his travels today visited several of the Federal departments, the Capitol, the Chevy Chase Golf Club and the White House.

The White House luncheon of course was formal as became the welcome given by a President to an ex-President. It is probable that the most interesting visit Mr. Taft made during the day was to the executive offices of the White House. He came unaccompanied in a private automobile and entered the offices in the absence of President Wilson.

Entered by one of the White House policemen who had guarded the entrance to his office when he was President, Mr. Taft walked back into Secretary Tamm's room and introduced himself. Later he shook hands heartily with all the employees of the office who had served under him. Then he was shown into the President's office for a brief chat with Tumulty.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

The desk was in the same old place with its back to the windows; there were the flowers from the White House greenhouse in front and the same worn green carpet on the floor. While Mr. Taft was in the President's office, Mr. McKenna, who served as chairman under both Roosevelt and Taft, came in to fix something, and Mr. Taft had to admit that there were some changes in the same old office.

Mr. Taft found the President's office little changed in appearance. True, the pictures of ex-President Roosevelt and Almon B. Taft, Mr. Taft's father, which had hung on the walls until last March, had been removed, and there were no new pictures there to replace them. Also a new chair stood at the President's desk in the place of the big one that had been built especially to accommodate Mr. Taft.

Claims

A silver spoon is a silver spoon. If two are alike in quality, design and weight it is folly to claim superiority for one over another.

But it IS sound for us to draw attention to the range and exclusiveness of our designs. We hold a real leadership in the field in which we have specialized for a century.

Reed & Barton Co.

Jewelers and Silversmiths

Fifth Ave. and 32d St.

4 Maiden Lane

E. E. McCall NOT A CANDIDATE.

Says He Wouldn't Take Majority Nomination From Anybody.

Edward E. McCall, chairman of the Public Service Commission, who has been mentioned as one of the possible Tammany nominees for Mayor, will not be a candidate for that office under any circumstances. Yesterday he was asked:

"If you were to be offered the Democratic nomination for Mayor this fall, and if the tender of that nomination came to you backed by a broad popular appeal, would you accept?"

"No," was Chairman McCall's answer, and he continued: "I dislike to assume that there is any chance that I should be tendered that nomination, but in order to quiet this talk once and for all I am willing to say that if the nomination were tendered me I would not accept it. Nothing short of a gun at my head would make me change my mind."

Others upon whom Tammany is said to have its eye for the Mayoralty are Justice John J. Lewis, Mayor Daynor and Collector John Purroy Mitchell.

POLICEMAN PREVENTS SUICIDE.

Administered Mustard as the Newspaper Had Told Him.

John Hornberger, caretaker of a house at Thirty-ninth street and Lexington avenue, quarreled with his wife yesterday afternoon and then swallowed some bichloride of mercury tablets.

Policeman Keim saw Hornberger fall. When he learned about the mercury he remembered having seen in a newspaper that mustard is a proper emetic, and he got some from a neighboring drug store. When Hornberger had swallowed it he sat up, and was later removed to Bellevue, a prisoner.

SAY PARK BARS McANENY PLAN.

Property Owners of Park Avenue File Protest.

A memorandum tending to show that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has no right under the city Charter to abolish the park in Park avenue between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets in connection with the proposed change of grade for Thirty-fourth street was presented to Mayor Daynor yesterday.

The memorandum was prepared by William D. Guthrie and Henry B. Anderson, counsel for Robert Bacon, the owner of Park avenue property between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets. The point of law raised in the brief will probably be used in a final appeal to the courts if the Mayor grants his approval of Borough President McAneny's plan.

It is asserted that the plot of ground in the center of Park avenue was set aside as a park by a resolution adopted by the Board of Estimate on August 12, 1887, and that there was a subsequent ratification of this act by the Legislature and an authorization of a tax levy. It is further asserted that this strip of land was given over to the control of the Department of Public Parks created by the Tweed charter and that the present New York Charter contains no clause giving the right to abolish any of the city parks.

Edmund L. Baylies, attorney for several property owners, said yesterday: "I believe the Legislature is the only body with power to unmake a park in the city of New York."

The Mayor's decision is expected in a few days.

DR. MULLER TO VISIT U. S.

Premier Minister of Brazil Will Arrive at Norfolk June 10.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Dr. Lauro Muller, Minister for Foreign Affairs of the republic of Brazil, will arrive on June 10 at Norfolk, Va. He is coming to the United States to return the visit made to Brazil in 1906 by the then Secretary of State, Elihu Root, and will remain in this country about three weeks.

Dr. Muller is the Premier of the Brazilian cabinet and the leading constructive statesman of that country. He is coming here on the Minas Geraes of the Brazilian navy, one of the greatest battleships afloat, and is accompanied by a distinguished staff. He will be met at Norfolk by representatives of the President, the Secretaries of State and Navy and the director-general of the Pan-American Union and escorted by them to Washington, where he will spend about four days.

During his stay here he will be entertained by the President and the President-elect, and will then proceed to Philadelphia, Bethlehem, New York, West Point, Boston, Chicago and finally to San Francisco to select a site for the Brazilian building at the exposition of 1915.

Dr. Lauro Muller was born November 8, 1863, in the State of Santa Catharina, Brazil, of German parents. He speaks Portuguese, French and German with equal fluency but has only a little knowledge of English. He has helped to abolish slavery in Brazil, to establish the republic and was one of the signers of the Constitution of the republic.

East Orange Celebrates Separation.

East Orange, N. J., June 7.—Beginning tomorrow morning with special services in the churches, East Orange will commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of its separation from the town of Orange.

KEENE OUT OF POLO; COLLARBONE BROKEN

Continued from First Page.

been broken and a temporary bandage was put on pending the arrival of Dr. Barrows of New York, who has attended Mr. Keene in many similar accidents. There were no other injuries of any importance and a speedy recovery is anticipated, though of course any chance of his playing in the international contests was knocked in the head. Mr. Keene recovered sufficiently to attend the races at Piping Rock in the afternoon.

On Wednesday, when the new team had its first practice, Mr. Keene had two narrow escapes. He was brought to the ground so heavily in one fall that for a while it was feared his ribs were broken. He remounted, however, and a little later his pony went down again, but this time he retained his seat in the saddle.

For more than a quarter of a century Foxhall Keene has been known as a daredevil in the saddle and a man who would take any chance in any kind of sport. Twice he has been carried from the polo field for dead, and those who were acquainted with his tumbles said that the fracture of his collarbone yesterday was the fourth time that it had been broken. He has had falls as an amateur steeplechase rider, been blown up from an automobile, nearly drowned on a sinking yacht, dragged by runaway horses and bitten by dogs. Nothing but absolute incapacity could brook his spirit and his pluck in entering the field against younger men was rewarded by his being the eleventh hour choice to lead the forlorn hope against England in what promises to be the greatest series of polo matches ever played.

Assault Takes Keene's Place.

The accident caused a cessation of play for nearly half an hour, but when it was found that Keene was in no danger hostilities were resumed, as the ponies were badly in need of work, the practice of the American four having been interfered with in the past month because of wet weather and accidents to Devereux Milburn. Gloomy faces gradually gave way to smiles when it was seen that the new lineup, which included R. L. Agassiz of Myopia in place of Keene, began to show a much better article of polo than the defenders had exhibited with their captain in command.

The Meadow Brook scratch team had scored 3 goals to 1 when the tally that eliminated Keene was counted, but in two periods after the accident the big four began hustling and rattled off enough goals to make the score a tie at 5 goals each when time was called at the end of the fifth.

Englishmen See Accident.

Several of the English players were present when Keene was thrown from his pony and were much disturbed by the breaking up of the four. They expressed the opinion, however, that the accident might be a blessing in disguise for the cup defenders, as it might result in the old big four getting back in the game, and the Englishmen confess that should that combination get in working order it would give them more trouble than the team officially selected.

There was no question that the chosen men were playing in poor form up to the time of the accident. They were riding over the ball and missing it frequently.

COURT ORDER TO FIX TEETH.

Theodore Roberts May Leave Ludlow Street to See Dentist.

The first case on record in which it was necessary for a man to obtain a court order to have dental work done is that of Theodore Roberts, the actor who has been in Ludlow street jail since December 29 last for failing to pay alimony to Mrs. Lucy C. Roberts under a decree of separation.

Roberts' term in Ludlow street jail will expire on June 29, but he got permission yesterday to go to the office of Dr. Frank E. Seely at 220 West Forty-second street on five different days to have his teeth treated. Dr. Seely said in an affidavit that Roberts has RIGGS' disease and will lose all his teeth if he doesn't have them attended to at once. The dentist said there is danger that Roberts will lose his front incisor, which would affect his enunciation and cause him loss in his profession.

The dentist says he can't work on the actor's teeth in jail because he needs his electrical instruments.

MR. SPENCER'S BOOKS ON VIEW.

Exhibition of Extra Illustrated Editions Opens To-morrow.

The New York Public Library to-morrow will open an exhibition of extra illustrated books bound by modern French, English and American binders, bequeathed to the library by the late William Augustus Spencer.

The exhibition is one of unusual interest on account of the beautiful condition of the books, many of them printed in Japan or India paper with special illustrations and all bound with rare skill and taste.

Mr. Spencer went down with the Titanic.

J.M. Gidding & Co.

Commencing Monday, June 9th:

An Important Selling of Ultra-fashionable Suits

$175 to $225 Costume Suits—Original Paris models and adaptations, in fashionable two and three piece effects to be worn with or without separate coats—for afternoon teas, receptions and similar functions—$95

$125 to $175 Demi-tailor Suits of silk and zephyr-weight cloth materials. Reproductions of, and styles evolved from models by Premet, Parry, Poiret and Callot—the newest conceits of the present season—$75

$85 to $125 Tailor Suits in distinctly fashionable styles suitable for wear with blouses, including the smart short coat designs, sash and vest effects, and conservative models; all the newest weaves and shades—$55

$55 to $75 Suits—Irreproachable styles in plain, fancy-cut and trimmed effects, for street, travel, seashore and country wear; also included are smart new British Motor and Sport Suits—$35

Mid-Summer Millinery—$15

Modish transparent Millinery—la dernière cri de Paris. Also beautiful Leghorn and Panama Hats laden with flowers and foliage, or trimmed with tulle or lace.

Special Displays of Outing Hats—$10

SEMI-ANNUAL CLEARANCE SALES

continue on Gowns, Dresses, Coats,

Wraps and Blouses

at greater reductions than heretofore

No sale goods sent on approval, C. O. D., reserved or exchanged.

Fifth Avenue, 46th & 47th Streets

Publishers' Advertisements

give you the titles of the many fine books for summer reading while you are enjoying perusal of the latest literary news, reviews and notes—in the Summer Reading Number of the New York Sun

Next Saturday—June 14th

LESS SEVERE TARIFF PENALTIES WANTED

Merchants Association Asks Senate Committee to Tone Down Bill.

The Merchants Association of New York has filed supplementary recommendations for changes in the administrative section of the tariff bill through its representatives, J. W. Masters, Secretary S. C. Mead and B. A. Levett, who recently appeared before the sub-committee of the Senate Finance committee.

The association previously recommended that "the present law providing for penalty for undervaluation, be changed to allow a leeway of 5 per cent. between the entered value and the appraised value without penalty."

"We believe a further change should be made in the present law, which provides that in case of forfeiture through undervaluation, the whole of the merchandise or the value thereof in the case of package containing the particular article or articles in each invoice which are undervalued be forfeited."

"This frequently works a great injustice where goods from many shippers, destined for different consignees, are packed in one case by express or other forwarding companies. Should one of these packages be fraudulently undervalued the law requires the seizure of the entire case, involving the goods of innocent shippers whose values are correct. The forfeiture should apply only to the articles undervalued."

The committee contends that paragraphs M and N relating to protest and reappraisal fees should be stricken out.

MURDEROUS BEES KILL CHICKS.

Jersey Woman Asks Police to Stop Rose Garden Tragedies.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 7.—Miss Christie Corrigan of 84 Laurel street, Ridgewood Park, complained to-day to Chief of Police Mella of that place that five of her choicest chickens had been stung to death in her rose garden by trespassing honey bees owned by Mrs. E. M. Waters, her next door neighbor.

The chief thought hard for a while and said the criminal processes couldn't help her. A civil suit may be instituted.

SAYS OFFICIALS HELD ORGY.

Grand Jury Urges Removal of Greene Co., Pa., Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 7.—A strong arraignment of officials of this county is contained in a report made this afternoon by the Grand Jury which for two weeks has been conducting an investigation into the charges that the Greene county court house had been the scene of debauchery and drunken revels.

In the report the Grand Jury recommends the immediate resignation of County Commissioners T. J. Rees, Lieben Scott and Jesse McNeely; Charles Huffman, Clerk to the Commissioners, and George White, court house janitor. It is also recommended that if the three County Commissioners fail to resign within thirty days proceedings be instituted against them. No recommendation is made as to Commissioners' Solicitor Charles H. King or night patrolman C. E. Gladden of Waynesburg, although these two men are mentioned as having been present at the orgies.

The investigation centered around reports of certain occurrences in the court house on the night of February 25 last. The Grand Jurors say they found that on that night the men mentioned were witnesses to offenses against morality committed in the court house.

MORRIS PARK SALE GOES ON.

In Seven Days 2,107 Lots Have Gone for $2,234,150.

A total of 249 lots in the Morris Park racetrack property was sold yesterday afternoon and last night by Joseph P. Day for $209,625, at an average price per lot of $1,151. This makes a total for the seven days of the sale of 2,107 lots for $2,234,150, or an average of $1,064 per lot.

An attempt was made to sell the old Morris Park clubhouse with two blocks surrounding it, but there were no bidders, and then the ninety-one lots in the plot were disposed of lot by lot for $56,825. The fourteen lots on which the clubhouse stands were bought in by a syndicate represented by Moran, Hahn & Moran. The building will be offered for sale to-morrow. It is believed that the purchasers of the fourteen lots will buy it in. A street as laid out would run through one corner of the old building, but it is possible that the plans for the street may be changed.

The highest price paid for a lot was $15,000 for one on the Esplanade at the southwest corner of Monroe avenue, which was knocked down to Rosario Maggio. He bought an adjoining lot for $3,175.

Judge Gives Advice and Fine Together.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., June 7.—When Mrs. Alexander Muir was arraigned before Recorder Henry L. Yost today on the charge of speeding her machine, she told the Judge that she had not read the automobile law of New Jersey. Recorder Yost handed her a copy of the law, advised her to read it, and imposed a fine of $20.

James McCreery & Co.

34th Street

23rd Street

Sales of Unusual Importance

SEASONABLE MERCHANDISE AT DECIDED REDUCTIONS

On Monday and Tuesday

CRAFTSMAN FURNITURE

Fumed Oak Tabourettes regularly 2.50, 1.95
Side Rockers with leather seats regularly 6.50, 5.00
Magazine Stands regularly 12.00, 9.75
Ladies' Desks regularly 20.00, 17.50
Bookcases regularly 30.00, 25.00
Armrockers with high backs and leather seats 12.00
regularly 15.50

SOLID MAHOGANY FURNITURE

Inlaid Folding Card Tables regularly 16.00, 8.00
Inlaid Magazine Stands regularly 20.00, 10.00
"Martha Washington" Work Tables 15.00
regularly 20.00
Waste Paper Baskets lined with silk 12.00
regularly 24.00
Workstands regularly 34.00, 17.00
Dinner Trays, regularly 3.75 to 19.25, 3.25 to 15.00
Colonial Wing Chairs or Rockers Special 15.00
Dinner Wagons .